Farewell to Prue Fagg

As a staff we bid farewell to Prue this afternoon. Prue is retiring from teaching having started her career in 1974. Prue made it very clear she did not want to have any function to mark the milestone of her retirement and (mostly) we honoured her wish. However, it was impossible to let such an important occasion go unobserved. Hence, this afternoon we had a staff luncheon for Prue, with invited teaching colleagues from her time at CBS. Prue has made an enormous contribution to education during her career. Prior to her arrival at CBS in 2001 Prue had taught at a number of schools in the Wellington region and had been a deputy principal and acting principal.

During her time at Campbells Bay School Prue was instrumental in activities such as hockey, cricket and kapa haka. Of course, in more recent years her name has been synonymous with bi lingual education. Prue has taken bi lingual education to the forefront of our school programmes catering to large numbers of students who have benefited from her commitment and passion to improve the language skills of all students she has worked with, not forgetting children who have benefited as a result of her professional development of teachers across the school when working with bi lingual students.

Prue moves into retirement with the satisfaction of achieving a job thoroughly well done. She will now have time to follow her interests and to provide even more support to her favourite team, the All Blacks.

Thank you, Prue, for your dedication to the teaching profession and best wishes for the next chapter in your life.

More Farewells

We also bid thanks and farewell to Helen Scrivener, who is returning to the UK. Our loss is most certainly the gain of a very fortunate class of students in that far off land, wherever exactly that class might happen to be. In her time at CBS Helen has made a very positive contribution to the school. We thank Helen for her commitment to her students and to the school and we extend to her best wishes and she writes the next chapter in her life.

Kathy Mansfield, one of our office team, is also leaving us for travels with her husband, Steve. A former parent of three children who attended CBS, Kathy's lively contributions to the office will be greatly missed, not to mention her outstanding ability to make spectacularly good coffee. Thanks for your contribution to CBS over the years, Kathy, and best wishes for your global journey.

Farewell (again!) to Steph McDonald who used to teach at CBS before moving to the UK. Steph returned to us to open a new entrant class and is now returning to the UK, as planned. Thanks Steph, for bringing your sunshine with you to CBS.

Today we also bid a temporary farewell to Nicole Rowland, Victoria Fuller and Ashley Miller. Nicole and Victoria have been granted leave for one year and Ashley has leave for six months. All leave will involve travel. They understand that should any of them give any indication they may not return to our fair school, no effort will be spared to track them down to have them return of course, it is probably not beyond the bounds of possibility they will all end up teaching at the same school at some stage next year with Kathy working in the office and Prue paying a fleeting visit while on an All Blacks supporters' tour! Probably fanciful thinking but, you never know.....

Families Leaving CBS

Today marks the day when some families will be leaving the school for the last time as their youngest child has graduated from year six to move onto new pastures. One of the great things about primary school is that relationships between and amongst people and with the school and home have time to develop over many years. This is particularly so when more than one child from the family attends the school meaning the relationship can last well over a decade. Having children arrive when they are five years old means parents are very involved in the school, much more so when compared to when their first child goes to intermediate and then secondary school! Thank you to everybody who is leaving CBS today with their youngest child having graduated. We hope you have enjoyed the experience.

Christmas Concerts

Thank you to everybody involved for ensuring the concerts were the success they were. It is no exaggeration to say that putting on the concerts is a bit like the iceberg - so much preparation goes unseen compared to the performance! A great way to round off the year.

Finally, thank you to everybody who has been part of the school this year. Have a great safe and enjoyable summer break.

Absences

Just a reminder that if your child is going to be absent from school, we request you advise the school office before 9am, not just the class teacher.

The intention is to provide you with an opportunity to share with your child's teacher any information you think would be useful to the teacher to help your child during the year. It is also an opportunity for the teacher to ask any questions and to outline how their classroom will work during the year. This means you will be able to exchange information and, as the title suggests, get to know each other, at least a little, before you embark on the partnership between you and the school for the year ahead. The meetings (realistically more aptly termed conversations) will be for 12 minutes and can be booked at www.schoolinterviews.co.nz using code awsdx Please note, as the meetings will cover aspects previously dealt with in the information evening in early February, the meetings will replace the information evening.
