

Allergy Aware School

Food allergy management in schools is complex and involves far more than simply implementing a ban on a particular food group

Parents can be assured the care of students with severe allergies is managed according to the Allergy Organisation Guidelines (www.allergy.org.au). These guidelines include:

- Students with severe medically confirmed allergies are identified at enrolment, at which point, in consultation with parents, appropriate management plans are put in place including specialised response and treatment.
- Awareness is maintained through age-appropriate education of students with severe allergies and their peers.
